THE SPANISH ARCHIVES

There is no reason why a catalogue should not be made interesting and profitable reading, says Col. Ralph Emerson Twitchell of Las Vegas in the prefatory note to his two volumes of "Spanish Archives of New Mexico," a copy of which beautiful and invaluable work has been received by the editor of the Herald.

If this work is a "catalogue," the author has pretty successfully disguised the fact. Like his "Leading Facts of New Mexican History," this compilation is a monumental achievement—and in its way it is even more interesting and absorbing than its predecessor. As in the case of the "Leading Facts," this production looks as if it must have required a lifetime of effort to complete. It clinches Colonel Twitchell's claim to being a historian of the first rank, whose work will always remain a standard authority on that marvelously fascinating section of the annals of America to which he has devoted his unique ability and indomitable industry.

Like Colonel Twitchell's previous publication this one is the perfection of the bookmaker's art—from "The Torch Press"—on heavy paper, with beautifully executed illustrations, massively bound in red.

If this splendid work be indeed a "catalogue," Colonel Twitchell may rest assured that he is the greatest catalogist in the circle of the average man's literary acquaintance. Volumes might be said of these volumes—but they are not to be read or digested in a day—and a review "hot off the bat" would be absurd. Suffice it to say that they form a great treasure house of information bearing on the romantic past of what Dr. Gray so picturesquely calls "Estado del Sol"—the State of the Sun.

ROCKEFELLER'S PREDICAMENT.

Some people are talking sympathy with "poor old Rockefeller" for the way the tax collectors are "hounding him." He is old, but financially speaking we cannot class him with the really poor, and undoubtedly the tax folks are after him hot foot. But it strikes us that such sympathy as goes out to him should be for the presence of sickness in his family and for such physical weaknesses as he may suffer, but not on the tax question.

The wonder is that so rich a man should begrudge any tax. Think of all that taxes do for him! Taxes mean the cost of social order. Should the protection of his house and property and person by the community cease for any cause, there is no sum that he would not gladly pay to establish himself in safety at his own expense. The state can do it better and sure, and yet he dodges from one state to another to avoid the tax collector.

Unquestionably the collectors talk big figures, enormous figures. But how about the Rockefeller fortune? Aren't big figures needed to measure that? Where did it all come from?

WHY IS A HANDKERCHIEF?

Some weeks ago the newspapers told of an assemblage which taboored the "Chaotompa salute because curls were very prevalent and it was feared that the waving of handkerchiefs would scatter the germs. May be in future years we will be carrying around paper rolls like the hotel towels.

If we discard the handkerchief, we will be conforming to the Brahmin sense of propriety, which views the use of the pocket handkerchief with disgust, equal in degree to the horror with which they behold educated westerners brushing their teeth repeatedly with a brush made of the hair of an animal. The Brahmins use a fresh twig every day with which to brush their teeth, and, as for handkerchiefs, they use none.

We seem to have some people of the Brahmin way of thinking and believing right here in Albuquerque.

HIGH TIME.

The senate has actually passed the bill creating six vice-admirals for the American navy. The Hartford Courant comments:

"This spirit of common sense on the part of the senate ought to be hailed down in the house of representatives by a prompt passage of this measure into law. Our navy is big enough to be commanded by its own officers when acting with the warships of other nations in a common emergency—almost invariably an emergency of civilization—and all that is necessary to secure this desirable end is to give a few of our naval commanders the proper rank."

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

The order of Knights of Pythias celebrates this week its Golden Jubilee. In a half century this organization has grown from a membership of thirty to nearly a million in America. In 7,000 towns and cities the day is to be celebrated with appropriate ceremonies. The history of fraternalism has nothing to equal this marvelous growth—a growth which in the nature of things must be the result of high ideals and a splendid organized work for friendship, charity and benevolence. The Knights of Pythias have achieved great things in this half century and the celebration is one fraught with great significance.

VERY GOOD.

The first annual Albuquerque Automobile Show came out $21.00 to the good. It isn't much, but it is nevertheless a lot. The amiable mayor and those who assisted him in launching the project and putting it through are entitled to the warmest congratulations. To start a brand new stunt of this kind and make it pay for itself the first time is a distinct achievement. We ought to be able to make the next one what is technically known in the automobile world as a "lollipopcoaster."

The latest news from our meteor is that it landed with a swishing sizzle in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. Distances are very deceptive in this country. Many thought it landed just beyond the Sandia mountains—and further east it appeared to hit the town of Sistersville, West Virginia. It is possible that it really landed in the Himalayas.

We hazard a guess that the Denver police are having some fun examining those "her thirty-three trunks" performed left in the hands of the authorities by the temperamental Sleazak, who undoubtedly made splendid use of his rare tenor in indicating to the officers of the law his opinion of themselves and antecedents.

President Wilson demands a neutral zone at Torreón in case another "decisive battle" is staged there. If we were the government we should stipulate permanent grandstands at all the principal regular battlefields of Mexico.

Woman, lively woman—what crimes are committed in thy name! The spectacle of an Amazon felling an aged gentleman with a dog whip is one to make the angels swear and the Creator to regret that he didn't leave Adam with all his ribs.

The story of the betrothal of Miss Margaret Wilson appears to have been a trifle premature. Some correspondent is a hog for White House romance.

Reno, where they pulled off an earthquake yesterday, apparently is not satisfied with her chief claim to notoriety.

WASHINGTON ON PUBLIC EDUCATION

"Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness."—Speech to Congress, January 2, 1790. "Promote, then, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."—Farewell address, September 17, 1796. "In a country like this, where equal liberty is enjoyed, where every man may reap his own harvest, and where there is an ample field for every meritorious and mechanical exertion, if there can not be money found to answer the common purposes of education, it is evident that there is something amiss in the ruling political power, which requires a steady, regulating, and energetic hand to correct and control it."—Letter from Mount Vernon, April 25, 1788.

"It (education) contributes to the security of a free constitution in various ways. By convincing those who are intrusted with the public administration that every valuable end of government is best answered by the enlightened confidence of the people, and by teaching the people themselves to know and value their own rights; to discern and provide against invasions of them; to distinguish between oppression and the necessary exercise of lawful authority; between burdens proceeding from a disregard to their convenience and those resulting from the inevitable exigencies of society; to discriminate the spirit of liberty from that of licentiousness, cherishing the first, avoiding the last, and uniting a speedy but temperate vigilance against encroachments with an inviolable respect to law."—Speech to Congress, January 2, 1790.

"A plan for the establishment of a university in the federal city has frequently been the subject of conversation; but in what manner it is proposed to commence this important institution, on how extensive a scale, the means by which it is to be effected, how it is to be supported, or what progress is made in it, are

THEN AND NOW

Despatches from Mexico City just a year ago today averred that February 19 was a day to be remembered in Mexican history. It saw the sudden rise of General Victoriano Huerta from a long career as military commander to the head of the government. Generals who had been defying President Madero from the fire of revolutionists under General Felix Diaz, gave way to intrigue, forced Madero's resignation and made him prisoner. He was later shot to death. A congress in the streets of the capital just a year ago tonight elected Huerta provisional president.

matters altogether unknown to me. . . I have greatly wished to see a plan adopted by which the arts, sciences, and belles-lettres could be taught in their fullest extent, . . . and (which with me is a consideration of great magnitude), by assembling the youth from the different parts of this rising republic, contrasting from their intercourse and interchange of information to the removal of prejudices, which might perhaps sometimes arise from local circumstances. The Federal city, from its centrality and the advantages which in other respects it must have over any other place in the United States, ought to be preferred as a proper site for such a university."

The Witchery of Perfume.

The love of bewitching perfume is inherent. And why should it not be since the senses of history, as we turn back and back toward the origin, are replete with episodes in which perfume has played a part in a nation's war or a nation's love.

And still further back, the ancients worshipped their gods by displaying at their shrine perfumes supposedly agreeable to their delicate nostrils. Knowing the subtle charm of perfumes, women indulge in them almost as much as did the Egyptians, but more indiscriminately.

Choose the perfume for your personality. Express yourself, your emotions, your thoughts in its illusive fragrance.

Too much do we overlook the wondrous possibilities of the sense of smell. We dress ourselves to suit our moods, we choose the foods to suit our capricious appetites, but we never, no never choose the perfume which expresses our own individuality, do we?

What An Excuse.

"What an excuse!" said Representative Kellar, apropos of certain cold-storage inequities. "What an excuse!" These men remind me of an automobilist who was hauled up for killing a poor old woman's hen.

"The lady complains," said the magistrate severely, "that you killed her hen, and then threw open the throttle, and dashed away like mad." "Well, you see, judge," apologized the automobilist, "I mistook the hen for a child."

SMILES

"ROOSEVELT has a fine sense of humor," said a New Yorker.

"When he was police commissioner he used to go around and keep tabs on the police himself. He came upon one standing at a bar one night before a large, full grown glass of whiskey which he was about to consume. Roosevelt touched him on the shoulder.

"What is your name?" "What business is that of yours," the cop demanded. "What's your name?"

"My name is Roosevelt," answered that gentleman.

The cop drank the liquor, set down the glass, wiped his lips with the back of his hand and then turned on the commissioner.

"If your name is Roosevelt," said he, "my name is Dennis."

"If I remember, Roosevelt let him off with a reprimand after that."

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER is not ordinarily credited with a sense of humor, but here is a story of his own telling:

Two Irishmen met on the street, and one having failed to borrow a quarter of the other, there occurred the following dialogue:

"Do you know, Pat, that that Rockefeller chap is the richest man in the world?"

"No, you don't say so?"

"It's the truth, me bhoy, and every time that clocks ticks off a minute, Rockefeller is a thousand dollars richer."

"Be jabers, git me an ax, Mike, and I'll smash the clock."

A CHICAGO youth not long ago received the following note from an ex-fiancee:

"Dear Tom—As you know, I shall marry Mr. Blank during the present month, I shall, therefore, be glad to have you burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity with reference to those you sent me."

To this missive the young man had the pleasure of replying his reply: "Dear Marie—I shall at once comply with your request. And, incidentally, as your new fiancé also holds a few little notes of mine, I should count it a great favor should you be able to induce him to burn them with the rest."

taxation 322,323,323 of these animals, valued roughly at $15. An agitation is now in progress for a wajaolote preserve in connection with the Elephant Butte project. In the lizard department the interesting fact is shown that 656,777,876, 788 lizards were eaten by coyotes during the year, leaving a net total of surviving lizards, 456,554,546,455. Several tons of the St. Patrick's Neekite variety were shipped to Cork, U. K. Gl. Bl. Ire. Scot. & Wales.

Order of Turkeys Soon to Gobble

(Toledo News-Bee.)

"Oh, you Turkey!" will be a favorite expression in Toledo Sunday when a local branch of the Noble Order of Turkeys will be instituted here with impressive ceremonies. Joseph P. Keating, George M. Durell and Philip Murphy, all of Toledo, compose a membership committee which has been active for several weeks past, and as the result 150 charter members of the local body will be initiated Sunday afternoon at the temporary headquarters, 142 St. Clair street.

The organization is composed of printers and those directly connected with the printing and newspaper business. A few years ago a lodge was started in Cleveland as a "josh," but became so popular that it grew very rapidly and has spread to many of the neighboring cities and bids fair to become a great national order. The mayors of a number of cities where lodges of the Turkeys have been instituted are members. In fact Carl Keller is a member of the Toledo body.

Arrangements have been under way for the past week for Sunday's affair and an elaborate entertainment and banquet has been planned.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 20 years, and has benefited more than a million people. Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day. M. C. H.

in conjunction with the initiatory work. Royal Grand Gobbler Norman E. McPhail of Cleveland, with the grand lodge degree team of ten and a party of Turkeyns of from 20 to 40, will be present. Approximately 25 members of the Detroit lodge and other cities will be present.

The officers of the local lodge, elected at a meeting held Friday afternoon are, Grand Gobbler, David P. Eoyer, secretary, Joseph P. Keating; treasurer, Philip F. Murphy. The Order of Turkeys has been organized among the printing trade and those in any way connected with it, and Sunday's meeting, entertainment and ceremonies will be one of the biggest in the fraternal world from a printer's view point ever held in Toledo. To add the oriental touch to the affairs the Cleveland lodge will bring a quartet of oriental musicians here Sunday.
